Tactical Information Operations Course
FACT SHEET

WHAT IS THE TACTICAL IO COURSE?

The Tactical IO Course (TIOC) is an 11-day resident course which prepares service members to conduct tactical Information Operations (IO) planning, execution and assessment. Graduates are eligible for the P4 Tactical IO Planner Additional Skill Identifier (ASI). All IO elements and activities are addressed, and the course focuses on synchronizing and coordinating Operational Security (OPSEC), Psychological Operations (now Military Information Support Operations, or MISO), Military Deception (MILDEC), Electronic Warfare (EW), Physical Destruction, Public Affairs (PA), and Civil Military Operations (CMO). Tactical IO Course graduates and their commanders report that the skills learned in the course are critical to their success in the full spectrum of military missions. The target audience is anyone from E-6 to O-5 who is involved in IO including: Information Operations Sections; Fires and Effects Cells; IO Staff Officers and NCOs; Commanders; Executive Officers; and Fire Support Officers, NCOs and enlisted soldiers from brigade to company level. Waivers for E-4s and E-5s who wish to attend will be considered on a case by case basis.

IS THERE A PREREQUISITE?

Our expectation is that Tactical Information Operations Course students will have completed IIA 101 prior to arriving. Your unit training NCO or schools administrator can enter you into this course via the Army Training Requirements and Resources System (ATRRS). Be sure to include your Army Knowledge Online (AKO) email address in the application. The school code is 1030 and the Course Number is NGB-AIS-IO (101). Soon after your application is approved by your Higher Headquarters, you will receive instructions via email on how to start the course using any internet–connected computer.
